If you're having sex, you should know your status. And everyone should be tested at least once in their life for HIV.

Many sexually transmitted infections (STIs) do not have obvious symptoms. And some STIs can cause lasting harm if left untreated.

FREE appointments include a visit with a Central District Health clinician, testing for Sexually Transmitted Infections (STIs) and treatment if needed, all in a confidential and non-judgmental environment. Referrals may be made for any necessary longer-term treatment.
